If you are someone who is hoping to win the lottery for years and who is convinced that only a huge amount of money can make you happy, you are not living your life fully. You are living your life on the back burner. You are missing your real life by living in a fantasy which might never look like you thought it would, even if it would become reality one day.

If you can't be present in your life because you are unhappy, you will probably miss the opportunities which might bring you closer to fulfill your dream of being wealthy.

This book will help you to take a different and very close look at your desire for wealth. You will learn to recognize the needs which hide behind your desire for money. These needs often have nothing to do with money and can be satisfied immediately in a different way.

And this is when the magic begins: As soon as you start to fulfill your needs which you thought, up until now, could only be satisfied by money, your mood and life will improve immediately. You won't feel powerless over a fantasy, but instead will be able to face your reality and your true needs, and you will learn how satisfying this can be.
